Learning Longevity seems a fate arranged by heaven, it happened when I most needed the power and knew how to convey universal energy, and know that I am not being helpless. Because of this, I feel very grateful.

In March 2008, I joined the primary and intermediate courses, at that time mother and myself attending the first week of the course and has been diagnosed having lung cancer. During the second week of intermediate course, mother had an operation to remove a section of the lung, in high dependence ward for observation. I made use of the limited visiting hour, placed my hands on C7 and the wound area. After a short while, my whole body was feeling hot and started to sweat, feeling a lot of energy rushing to my palms. Then, mother transferred to general ward, I also grabbed any opportunity to place my hands over the wound site, every time I extend my hands I could feel the energy increased through the body, At that time, my heart quiet down, then I would feel the power of the palms and finger tips.

At the low tide of life, it is a great fortune to have met Longevity. Because of this, mother continued to doing exercises (self-healing), it occupied the period of worry and fearfulness, to relax the mind and heart. Moreover, I knowing how to make use of my hands' energy, and my willpower to accompany my mother increased. At that time, I keep telling myself: (a person with kind wishes, heaven honours you; people with kind thinking, heaven blesses you). No matter how hard the difficulty is, you only think kindly and face it with a good heart; you would be able to overcome it.

Mother had the operation over 6 months ago, slowly she recovered. I feel guilty myself not being able to apply adjustments to mother as much as I would like to while she was in the hospital, but I still feel the warmth and power in my hands, and I hope through the opportunity of the advance course, able to learn more and continue to provide help.
