A few months ago, a colleague and myself making use of lunch hour and went to play badminton. After the game, the right hand, my back, shoulder, wrist and the whole arm was so painful that I could not lift the arm.

Because I work in the hospital, it was convenient for me to attend the follow up once or twice a week, a colleague also recommended me to see an acupuncturist. However, 2 months passed, the pain in my arm has not reduced.

One day I was still on duty, another colleague she heard that my arm was painful, wanted to apply adjustments for me. At that time, I was curious, and let her try, did not expect the first day having the adjustments, I felt the back of my hand to the palm has numb feeling, the shoulder joint also having periodic pain, felt like needle sticking in the bone, at that time, my tears coming down. My colleague also felt it was painful for me, so she suggested that I would need 8 to 10 times of adjustments in order to get completely better. Half month has gone by; I really have no pain anymore. Because of that, for my own sake, and for other people's need, I joined the Longevity courses, and learned both the primary and intermediate courses seriously.

Recently I helped my neighbour to apply adjustments for his back, he has been to the doctor, had x-ray done and knowing the problem of the vertebrae, leading to chest and back pain. For a few days, I carefully applied adjustments for him. His wife suffers from nasal allergies, sneezing a lot when she gets up in the morning, now his wife's condition improved, and he himself is less painful.

My daughter, she has many ailments, suffers from constipation, not sleeping well, some skeletal problem, often twist her legs while walking. May this year went to Thailand for holiday, twisted her ankle and came back, up to now still painful, already 5 to 6 months.

It is very strange, my daughter is very fussy, but she gradually likes me to apply adjustments for her, the other strange happening was 2 weeks ago she hurt her waist area, that night I applied adjustments for her for nearly two hours, next morning she got up early and told me: her waist not hurting any more, really wonderful! Yes! Yes! I do feel it is wonderful, hope to help a lot more people.
